

case study

catherinecantey.com

FROM CONCEPT TO COMMUNITY

Designed, Built, Furnished, and Donated Homes for Transitional Housing

Context

In partnership with the United Way of Kershaw County, Catherine led the design, construction, furnishing, and donation of homes to support families in need of stable transitional housing.

Objectives

- Create safe, dignified housing for families in transition
- Design a livable, durable space for long-term use
- Coordinate design, construction, and furnishing efficiently
- Deliver a turnkey solution ready for immediate occupancy

Approach

Catherine approached the project with a builder's mindset—sequencing decisions, managing trade-offs, and remaining hands-on through every phase to ensure the vision translated into a finished, livable environment.

Actions Taken

- Designed the homes with end users in mind
- Managed construction from start to finish
- Selected and installed furnishings for move-in-ready homes
- Donated the completed homes for immediate community use

Results & Impact

The completed homes now provide stable, dignified housing for families during critical transition periods. The projects created durable community assets and demonstrated how clarity, coordination, and execution can turn vision into form.

Next Steps

If you're navigating a complex initiative and want to turn vision into responsible action, connect with Catherine to learn more.

Catherine@CatherineCantey.com

